I Listening and Responding

“Prevention is better than cure” is the principle we follow today. But in ancient times people bothered about their health only when they fell ill. But now the physicians have discovered the factors responsible for patient’s diseases. A physician should have a thorough professional knowledge, patience and sympathy towards patients to cure diseases.

1. What is the ‘principle’ you find in the passage?
2. When did the people in olden days used to bother about their health?
3. What do you mean by a ‘Physician’?
4. What qualities do you expect from a good Physician?
5. Name any one physician of ancient times?
